

Art Gairns

The Metal Building Group ("MBG") is proud to welcome Art Gairns as Manager of Special Projects. Art brings 31 years of metal building experience with him to the MBG team. Art Gairns is considered a pre-engineered building specialist with a successful track record of managing major projects in the industrial, commercial, institutional and recreational sectors. His extensive knowledge of pre-engineered metal building system construction is a valuable asset to the Metal Building Group and all our valued customers.

The Metal Building Group specializes in the design, supply and erection of custom pre-engineered metal buildings. We work closely with our customers to bring significant expertise to any metal building project. We serve builders, general contractors, construction managers, engineers, architects, and owners. Our people have the experience and capabilities needed to build quality metal buildings for any industry or application, large or small. We have dedicated and professional office personnel, reliable and skilled in-house erection crews, and a large fleet of modern trucks, heavy equipment and tools. All this makes the Metal Building Group the go-to resource for all your metal building needs.
